Holland Group Will Greet Ship

Two Groups Qualify for 'E' Awards

Two local employe groups already have qualified for the coveted "E" award for outstanding citizenship in this year's United Fund-Red Cross campaign, even though the campaign is not scheduled until Oct. 8.

The De Pree Co. has total employe pledges of $1,129.10 for an average gift per employe of $16.65, according to O. E. Alberta. Employes of The Holland Evening Sentinel were the first employe group to qualify for the award.

Both groups have won the award consecutively each year since the formation of the United Fund in 1959, according to Robert L. Sligh, campaign chairman, who explained that employe groups pledging a total amount equivalent to 70 per cent of one day's average total payroll, exclusive of the corporate gift, qualify for the award.

About 40 campaign volunteers in the commercial, retail and construction divisions of the drive completed campaign plans at a Dutch Treat breakfast this morning in Hotel Warm Friend. Wilbur C. Cobb, chairman of the Ottawa County Red Cross chapter, and Harold E. Denig, United Fund president, briefly explained the many vital services provided daily by agencies of the organization. The Rev. William C. Hillegonds of Hope Reformed Church gave the invocation.

The campaign for $110,000 is scheduled Oct. 5 through 23. The amount needed represents a 5.3 per cent increase over last year's goal. The first report meeting will be a Dutch Treat 7:30 a.m. breakfast Thursday, Oct. 8.

Set Addition To Modern Products

G. W. Haworth, president of Modern Products, Inc. today announced plans to build a 20,000 sq. ft. addition to its plant on 32nd St. and US-31 bypass, and move their entire operation into the building by Dec. 1. Construction will start immediately.

The two-story addition will have a glass curtain wall fronting on 32nd St. There will be a spacious lobby, with an open stairway to offices on the second floor.

The completed structure will total more than 50,000 sq. ft. including 5,000 sq. ft. for sales and administrative offices.

Modern's general offices are presently located in their original building on 16th St. near Lincoln Ave. Manufacturing and finishing operations were transferred from this plant to the 32nd St. building when the latter was constructed in 1961.

Haworth said the completion of the building on 32nd St. is part of their long-range growth pattern.

"Since we changed over from a strictly manufacturing operation to both manufacturing and sales less than four years ago, we have developed many new concepts and new styles in movable wall partitions," Haworth said. "Our national marketing program places a constantly increasing demand on us for additional manufacturing space. This new move has been coming for several years, and we're glad we prepared for it."

The 32nd St. building was constructed in 1961 to accommodate the company's manufacturing and finishing operations. General offices remained in the 16th St. building which was also used for warehousing.

This building has been purchased by Dwight Ferris, CPA, and William Hamlin, both located on Ninth St. near River Ave. Roscoe Giles, head of HEDCOR, aided in negotiations. Ferris and Hamlin plan to make immediate use of the office space only. The Ottawa Placement Service will relocate there.

Modern Products now employs approximately 100 persons in the manufacture of various types of partitions. J. Busscher is vice-president in charge of production. Modern Partitions Inc. is the national sales organization promoting the sale of this product.

Vice-President Jerry Jonker announced that Modern has just completed negotiations with Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. whereby the two companies will work together closely in producing a complete line of wood partitions with surfaces of Videne, a special surfacing film developed by Goodyear. Jonker announced that a general sales meeting will be held in Holland Oct. 15-16, with more than 60 representatives from the company's nationwide sales organization attending sessions at the Warm Friend Hotel. Goodyear personnel will be among the leaders of sales and marketing discussions.

Society Gives Okay To New Site

Location Is 40th St.
Between Washington
And Graafschap Rd.

The Holland Christian School Society took a big step in the direction of a new building program at its annual meeting Monday night when it selected a site for a future new Holland Christian High School.

Nearly 700 members, one of the largest groups in the school's history, voted to accept the school board's first choice of a 40th St. site between Washington Ave. and the Graafschap Rd. The property is located on a 40 acre site at the future Ottawa Avenue.

The purchase of the property would not involve any immediate outlay of money by the society since it was purchased by the Capital Subscribers, a local investment group made up of school supporters, and made available to the society for a possible school site.

In recent years, the subscribers have purchased or obtained options on properties in other local areas for development and resale and for possible use as school sites.

The School Society was given the figure of $58,000 to consider as the capital investment for this site. This figure includes the purchase price by Capital Subscribers and estimates of future assessments for streets and utilities.

Other possible sites under discussion at the meeting were in Holland Heights, and South Central Ave. at the bypass, and South Washington Ave. 40th St. and the bypass.

Ben Alena, chairman of the planning committee, outlined the various sites and gave information on the property. In a bulletin handed out to school society members last week, the needs of the badly overcrowded high school were outlined.

In other business the group heard the financial reports of various funds. Treasurer Gerald Appledorn reported that revenues during the last year amounted to $726,947.06 including $481,823.50 from tuition. Another big item was $122,231.61 collected through the Sustaining Membership Plan.

Expenditures amounted to $708,455.41 including a transfer of $49,475.00 to the building fund for debt retirement. The biggest item was the $513,096.44 for instructional purposes. Operation of school plants amounted to $56,162.27.

Another exhibit in the financial report showed that various churches and school circles had contributed $82,288.15.

Edward Schierbeek, chairman of the SMP fund, also made a brief report.

Herman Vander Leek, chairman of the building fund, reported that the fund had receipts of $54,166.00. Notes outstanding on all school properties and buildings amounted to $269,555.00.

The Athletic Fund showed a total of $39,583.01 of which $31,505.00 is invested in the school building fund. The Activities Center fund showed a total of $12,160.87.

The 1964-65 budget which was adopted at the spring meeting showed a figure of $775,500, about $55,000 more than last year's total.

New board members elected were Russel Boeve, Ted Hoeksema, the Rev. Wilmer Witte, Hill Burma and Dr. Robert De Haan. Retiring members are Gerald Appledorn, William De Mott, Adrian Geenen, the Rev. L. Van Drunen and Gerald Van Wyke.

Supt. Mark Vander Ark gave a brief review of school activities during the 1963-64 session.

John Veltkamp, president of the board presided. The Rev. Van Drunen, closed the meeting with prayer.

Chairman Has Job Keeping Waiting Audience Keyed Up

By Mary Ellen Mrok
Traveling to hear a favorite candidate or attend a political rally regardless of party is pretty exciting and spirited.

What is even more fascinating and even more spirited is watching members of the press write their stories, photographers struggle for that page one picture and the chairman warm up a crowd and keep them enthusiastic when they have been waiting for two or three hours in drizzling weather — not to mention the nervous local police who demand to see proof that one is a member of the press after that person was cleared by the credentials committee.

One of the important tasks facing the chairman is to arouse the audience and keep them "keyed up" for that warm welcome when the candidate arrives. Usually the group, already sold on a candidate, doesn't have to be geared up, but after all, that's the guy's job, and like a mother telling her married daughter how to run a household, the chairman goes about having the people yell cheers for two hours.

He keeps putting the crowd through his paces and prods the local school band to play snappy pep songs and when the candidate finally does arrive, the crowd is hoarse and the pep band has had it.

Meanwhile, television crews are setting up their cameras, taking light readings and determining the spot for the best picture while the photographers for the local paper are going through all sorts of antics trying to get a picture of the gathering crowd — up and down ladders, on the platform, under the table, from the top of the stadium and in a hydraulic lift.

First to come over the platform are reporters traveling with the candidate who have heard the same speech now for the last three appearances and are looking forward to the apples or some food that might be passed out to the press corps.

In they plough to the area assigned them with their typewriters, pencils, pens and western union paper which the wind (if blowing) plays catch with. They bounce over the platform onto tables, assessing the crowd with one reporter estimating the crowd at 2,000 and another estimating the same crowd at 6,000.

Those not estimating the crowd are busy staring into space pondering a new lead to the same story. Others are standing by the telephone table asking where the telephones are while those who seem to have their story or lead down are tossing those apples across the tables.

Still others can be seen talking over the "good old days" with persons whose names or last names they can't seem to remember.

Finally it all settles down, except the wind and the occasional drizzle, and the chairman introduces the man who will introduce the candidate who gives a 10 to 15 minute speech.

One is able to tell the end of the candidate's speech when the reporters suddenly slam down their pads and pencils, lock up their typewriters, grab an apple and make a beeline out of the place — for the best seat on the bus that will take them to the candidate's plane and their next stop.

Back on the platform, the candidate waves his hand, poses for a few pictures with local persons running for office and is off — all done within one half-hour, leaving the chairman with the corsage he forgot to present to the candidate's wife.

Community Group Opens With 'Finian's Rainbow'

A fantasy based on Irish folklore laced with familiar show tunes provided an excellent vehicle for Holland Community Theatre in its first presentation Friday of "Finian's Rainbow" in Holland High School auditorium.

Top honors were shared by Hollis Clark Jr. as Finian, the Irishman who never went out of character as he plodded in his quest for gold in America (buried at Fort Knox); E. Dale Conklin as Og, the mischievous leprechaun searching for his pot of gold and turning mortal as time advanced, and the two romantic leads, Joanna Greenwood as the attractive daughter of Finian, and Ellis Julien as Woody Mahoney, native of the imaginary Missusky. Melodie Greenwood filled a particular plump role as Susan, the deaf-mute who danced her words.

An attractive set and excellent lighting provided that certain atmosphere just right for such hauntingly beautiful tunes as "How Are Things in Glocca Morra," "Look to the Rainbow," "Old Devil Moon" and "If This Isn't Love." Lustier tunes such as "Great Come and Get It Day" and "Necessity" set a different pace for a chorus which boasted some particularly good voices. Karen Huyck served as pianist. Emily Shaffer was musical director and Marilyn Perry did the choreography.

George Steggerda, president of Holland Community Theatre, served as director. He directed "Guest in the House" last year and appeared in "Everybody Loves Opal."

Winslow's resignation coincided with the death Thursday of Dr. E. L. Wheat, Allegan, also a board member. Fred Buhler, Zeeland, remains as the sole member of the three-man board.

An historic water wheel built before the turn of the century will take on a new assignment as a tourist attraction here, starting next week.

The three-ton wheel was moved here from the North Park area of Grand Rapids to provide power for a new fall cider mill attraction at Carousel Mountain resort.

The 12-foot high, white oak wheel will revolve in a spring-fed stream adjoining the year-round resort and operate an old fashion cider press the resort has acquired near Clinton, Iowa.

The wheel and press are high-light attractions of a new, patio dining area at the resort which will feature cider and doughnuts starting Oct. 1. The new Carousel attraction will also include an old country store.

The water wheel was built in 1890 by Charles Carter Comstock and Huntley Russell and was used to pump water for domestic and irrigation purposes and for a steam engine train between Grand Rapids and the North Park suburb.

In addition to the cider mill, Carousel Mountain has also announced that a 22-unit motel, two apartments and heated pool will be completed at the resort by Nov. 15.

SUGAR BOWL TEMPEST

The controversy over artificial sweeteners such as saccharin and cyclamate may turn out to be little more than a tempest in a sugar bowl. One good thing may come of it, however. The hassle may cause a lot of people, doctors as well as laymen, to ask themselves whether the growing fad for avoidance of sugar in the diet is wise.

The current dispute was touched off by the Medical Letter, a publication that reports on drugs and is read mostly by doctors. "Except where intake of sugar must be limited as in some diabetic patients," this journal said, "the unrestricted use of artificial sweeteners makes little sense, especially since their safety isn't beyond question." This drew reactions both from the Food and Drug Administration and from such commercial interests as drug and soft drink makers and food processors.

The FDA said that although the artificial sweeteners had hitherto been considered safe, new tests were being made because their use was growing so rapidly. Thus far it was noted, "the FDA has no evidence that there is cause for alarm." The commercial interests were less calm about the matter. Understandably so, because demand for the sweeteners for use in diet foods and low-calorie drinks has swiftly expanded in recent years.

It is a pertinent question whether, even if the artificial sweeteners are harmless, there is much point in using them unless sugar intake must be restricted for medical reasons. Sugar is a valuable food. Parents would do well to think about a remark by Dr. Louis C. Lasagna, a director of the division of clinical pharmacology at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore: "People who have no need to avoid sugar are doing so, and some of those people, children especially, absolutely need it."

The Pastoral Epistles
I Timothy 1:1-11
By C. P. Dame

During the last quarter of the year 1964 we will study four books of the New Testament — the First and Second Epistles to Timothy and the Epistles to Titus and to Philemon — called pastoral epistles, because they deal with parish problems. These epistles were written by Paul. They are full of counsel which is still useful for church workers.

I. Church doctrine is important. It may not be popular. In ancient times writers placed their names in the beginning of letters. Paul calls himself "an apostle of Jesus Christ." The word "disciple" means "learner" while an "apostle" is a person who is sent. In the Bible the word "apostle" is used in two ways. Jesus selected twelve apostles. The word is also used to designate men sent to preach the gospel by the Holy Spirit. Epaphras and Barnabas are called apostles in the larger sense. Paul got the office of apostleship from God whom he calls "our Saviour" because He gave us His Son, Jesus Christ who is our hope.

Timothy was Paul's spiritual son—he calls him "my own son in the faith." Paul and Timothy met in Lystra during Paul's first missionary journey. Timothy's father was a Greek, his mother the devout Eunice, a Jewess. When Paul needed another helper in the place of John Mark he chose Timothy who was ever loyal to him. Although Timothy was young, Paul left him in wicked, wealthy Ephesus to take charge of the congregation there and to "charge some that they teach no other doctrine." One of the dangers of church mergers is the watering down of sound doctrines.

II. Sound teaching builds the church. This means that there is no room for much talk about "fables and endless genealogies which minister questions, rather than godly edifying." Sometimes petty questions and discussions take up a lot of time. The aim of teaching and preaching is to increase love which "issues from a pure heart and a good conscience and sincere faith." Genuine love proceeds from a holy heart — a heart cleansed from sin. A pure heart and a good conscience stem from faith. Most valuable are a pure heart, a good conscience, and sincere faith.

III. God's Law is good. The law is made not for the righteous man "but for the lawless and disobedient," people who do as they please and therefore need to be restrained and corrected. Paul gives a list of the lawless and disobedient of his times. Today there are people who commit the same kind of sins which people were guilty of in the days of Paul. We live in a world of sinful people, many of whom take delight in violating God's moral law. To-day it is the duty of the Church to preach both the law and the gospel which Paul calls "the glorious gospel of the blessed God which was committed to my trust" and it is also committed to us. The world needs this gospel more than anything else.

Views From The Campus

(Gordon Brewer is assistant professor of physical education and athletic director at Hope College. He received his B.A. from Hope in 1948, his M.A. from the University of Michigan in 1952. Prior to joining the Hope faculty in 1956, he taught for six years at the Kelloggsville High School in Grand Rapids and for two years at the Byron Center High School. —Editor's Note)

By Gordon Brewer Since 1869 an ever increasing number of Americans have become absorbed in the game of football.

Today as thousands crowd into stadiums or glue themselves to tv sets, there can be little doubt as to the entertainment value of the game. The professional team justify their existence solely in terms of entertainment produced, and therefore instruct their coaches to produce the winners that are crowd pleasers. The end of clicking turnstiles would seem to justify most any means employed by the coaches as long as they withstand legal scrutiny. Coaches of most of our major university teams are under a similar mandate and for similar reasons.

Church related liberal arts colleges such as Hope also include football in their programs. What should be the approach, the attitude, the role of the coach at such a school? Here the entertainment factor remains but would seem to occur somewhat incidentally in the quest for a more worthy educational objective. I believe this fact changes and enlarges the responsibility of the men who teach football in such an institution.

An analysis of the game is not in order here but its components include concentrated emotion, tremendous physical demands, dedication, clear thinking, and selfishness. Game and practice circumstances in my opinion provide a laboratory for living that adds an extra dimension to classroom learning. Such experience is perhaps unequalled anywhere else. Direct participants derive the greater benefits and this number is limited, but students in the stands identify with their schoolmates on the field. Surely they receive inspiration for many a worthy pursuit.

The late General MacArthur was of the opinion that considerable transfer of training occurred as the student athlete found himself in defense of his country, or that football aided the waging of war. I would submit that the game if properly used can contribute equally to desirable living in a peaceful society. If this is true, then football at the church related liberal arts

Holland Bank Robbed 32 Years Ago Today

It was 32 years ago Tuesday that gangland crime reared its ugly head in Holland.

Although there have been many and various crimes committed in the city since that time, there has probably never been one which oldtimers will recall as vividly as the armed holdup of the First State Bank (now First National Bank) on Sept. 29, 1932.

An air of mystery still surrounds the crime. Holland Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff, commenting Tuesday on his recollections of the crime, said he believed most of the half-dozen bandits who robbed the Holland bank had been caught, although no one was ever convicted for the Holland Crime.

Van Hoff said former Fire Chief Andrew Klomprens, who had assisted in the chase of the robbers, had identified one of the bandits in Chicago later as a man named Rossi. Van Hoff said a group known as the Bentz brothers also were believed to have taken part in the robbery.

Two Holland residents were wounded in the bullet-riddled getaway staged by the robbers who evaded officers and fled with $47,164 in cash and $26,000 in bonds.

Holland's Chief of Police Peter A. Lievens was shot in the side as he approached the bank and one of the bandits fired a revolver through a glass door. The glass, showing the bullet hole, was made into a mirror and now hangs in a washroom at the local police station.

The second victim of the shoot-out was Peter De Jongh, then 45 years old. De Jongh, a bystander, was struck below the heart by a stray bullet and was critically injured.

Although De Jongh recovered initially, he died some four or five years later as a result of his wounds, his physician Dr. Otto van der Velde said.

Van der Velde also recalled vividly the incidents of that day 32 years ago.

Van der Velde said he was at his home on Lawndale Ct. "putting around the yard," when he heard what sounded like machine gun fire coming from the downtown area.

He got into his car and drove toward the business district. It was at the corner of Eighth St. and Central Ave. that he found De Jongh lying in the street with a bullet wound in his chest.

Van der Velde removed the bullet from De Jongh's back and treated him for about two weeks. He later sent De Jongh to the University Hospital at Ann Arbor for surgery, and said De Jongh made several later trips to Ann Arbor before he died. De Jongh never completely recovered from the effects of the shooting, van der Velde said.

Former Holland Municipal Judge Cornelius van der Meulen was cashier at the bank when the bandits entered with drawn guns at 9 a.m. and forced employees and customers to lie face college serves a function beyond that of mere entertainment.

A prime objective in any sport is excellence of performance. Coaches at all levels must seek it. Every coach must be capable of motivating his players to maximum effort. Variation occurs in the incentives used.

Coaches in the "entertainment" business are generally concerned only with the effectiveness of the incentives. Due to the high emotional level already present, some of the more extreme will promote or condone hatred and resulting vicious tactics. Since winning means survival, ethics is more or less passe. "Nice guys finish last."

Articles by pros in recent sports periodicals indicate that players and coaches view violations of both the letter and the spirit of the rules as part of the business. The only real wrong is detection. Admittedly the sum total of all this is often a neutralized opponent, touchdowns, victories, and jammed stadiums.

I believe that football is bigger than this sequence; that wholesome incentives are available to produce excellence and maximum performance; that integrity is indispensable and need not jeopardize efficiency. The young man who views his body as the temple of God can be inspired to deep pride in effort itself, a seeking to know his maximum strength, speed, judgment, and control. Pride in flawless execution combined with great effort and dogged perseverance can be a more effective incentive than viciousness, hatred, and violation of the rules written and unwritten.

Respect for the opponent does not rule out the desirability of achieving a better performance than this respected opponent. The satisfaction achieved through self-control under duress is an incentive often untapped and players should be made aware of it. Coaches are not always shining examples in this department but we are obliged to work harder at it.

Dedication to these objectives can make good football players. Far more significant are the lessons learned in more than theory which becomes so applicable to life in today's society. An irony of our so called "peaceful" society is that it is actually made up of a series of little wars, irritations, and aggravations which demand a response short of warfare. Involved individuals must react in a socially acceptable manner.

In the highly charged atmosphere of the gridiron it becomes possible to cultivate great determination and perseverance, and at the same time the necessary restraint which accrues from success and failure.

At the church related liberal arts college football should be a genuine exercise in self discovery.

A steady flow of citizens all day Monday participated in the chest x-ray examination for tuberculosis, lung defects, heart abnormalities and a blood test for diabetes.

The program is conducted by the Michigan Department of Health and has the cooperation of the Ottawa County Health unit. The response at Zeeland was very gratifying to the operators as 378 had their blood tested and 420 received their x-ray examination on Monday. Tuesday was even better when more than twice as many passed through the examination, 718 for the blood test and 750 in x-ray. 500 hundred per day is generally regarded as a good day's work. During Monday almost at any time there was a short wait however Tuesday Tuesday some reported waiting more than hour; generally it took about 20 minutes from beginning to end. Wednesday morning saw the greatest crowd and by noon 200 blood tests were taken and 220 x-rays. Total for the three-day examination was 1390 x-ray and 1296 blood test.

Mrs. Gil (Myrtle) Roelofs was happily surprised last weekend when she received word and a beautiful medal for placing second in the Women's Division of International Walkers Assn. novice race in the Mackinac Bridge Walk on Labor Day.

Mrs. Roelofs was not aware that she had won the second place award until she had received official word by mail. This is Mrs. Roelofs' second effort in the race and had lowered her time from her previous effort.

The Roelofs family were up in the Bridge area fishing before the Labor Day event and Mrs. Roelofs casually entered the race, not expecting to win but more for the sport of entering than for winning.

The winner of the event in the women's division was from Allegan and finished the race only about 20 feet ahead of Mrs. Roelofs. Had Mrs. Roelofs known that the Allegan woman was to be the winner she would have made a greater effort and probably came in first instead of second. Because of the many people walking it was difficult to determine who has competing in what class, so the walkers are totally unaware of whom they are competing with. Her time for the five-and-a-half mile walk was 57 minutes and 56 seconds.

Zeeland City Attorney Hanes Meyers, Jr., was admitted to practice before the United States Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals at a special session of that court held in Grand Rapids on Sept. 22, in conjunction with the annual convention of

For the wedding trip the bride changed to a three-piece navy wool suit with an off white jacket with navy trim. She wore black patent leather accessories and wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Bell Slates Improvements For Holland

A service improvement project for the Holland exchange has been proposed by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

Included in the proposal, which will be submitted to the Michigan Public Service Commission for approval, are plans to expand the Holland base rate to approximately 2½ square miles of territory, and to offer better grades of service in place of four-party residence service.

Carl J. Marcus, manager here for Michigan Bell, said expansion of the Holland base rate area would result in the elimination of mileage charges for those customers in the areas to be added. Multi-party rural service in these areas would be discontinued.

Marcus said the addition of more lines and equipment throughout the Holland exchange would enable the company to offer better grades of service. As a result, when these facilities became available, only individual and two-party residence service would be provided, except in the outlying rural territory.

"This means that a customer would have to share his line with no more than one other party and that he would hear only his telephone ring," Marcus said.

In the Lake Michigan Shores locality area, he said two-party residence service would be introduced and rural line service would be eliminated.

Only individual line service would be furnished to business customers, Marcus said. Presently, 99 per cent of Holland's business customers have one-party service.

Because considerable time is needed to provide the added lines and equipment, Marcus said customers with four-party residence and two-party business services could retain those services at their present locations until the company can make the changes.

"However, if the commission approves the proposal," he said, "four-party residence and two-party business service would not be available to new customers nor to present customers moving to new locations."

Marcus said that Holland customers changing from four-party residence service to two-party flat rate service would pay 65 cents a month more than their present rate. Or, they could choose two-party message rate service for 60 cents a month less than their present four-party rate. The two-party message rate service includes an allowance of 20 messages a month. Additional messages cost 10 cents each.

He said two-party business customers changing to individual lines would pay $1 more a month for the better grade of service.

The elimination of mileage charges in the proposed additions to the base rate area would result in reductions of at least $1.50 a month for all one-party customers and two-party residence customers involved, Marcus said.

In the proposed additions to the Holland base rate area, residence customers changing from four-party to two-party flat rate service would pay at least 85 cents a month less even though the two-party rate is 65 cents a month more than the four-party service, Marcus said. Or, they could select two-party message rate service and pay at least $2.10 a month less than their present rate.

Rural line residence customers changing to the two-party service would pay five cents less a month.

Two-party business customers changing to individual lines would pay 50 cents less a month. Rural line business customers changing to individual lines would pay $2.45 more a month.

In the Lake Michigan Shores locality area, residence customers with four-party service or rural line service changing to two-party flat rate service would pay 90 cents a month more for the better grade of service, Marcus said. Or, they could choose the two-party message rate service for 35 cents a month less than their present rate.

In the same area, business customers changing from two-party to individual lines would pay $1.25 more a month, while rural line business customers changing to the one-party service would pay $3.20 more a month.

In the outlying rural areas, residence customers changing from four-party to two-party service would pay up to 90 cents more a month. Or, they could select the two-party message rate service and pay from 35 to 60 cents a month less than at present.

Two-party business customers changing to individual lines would pay up to $1.25 more a month. Marcus said that some four-party residence and two-party business customers in out-

Panthers Lose Game To Grandville

Jim Paulson's rushing and the passing of Doug Taylor combined to lift the Grandville Bulldogs to a 6-0 victory over the West Ottawa Panthers Friday night.

A total of 2,000 fans were on hand to watch the opening Grand Valley league encounter of the season for both schools. After being outplayed in the first half by the Panthers, Paulson drove for 57 yards in the second half as his contribution to the 96 yards in rushing accumulated by Grandville in that period.

The lone Grandville tally was pushed across from the three-yard line by Jim DeRidder with 9:30 left in the game. The score came after Grandville recovered a Panther fumble on the Grandville 38-yard line.

Driving down to the Panther 37 two plays later quarterback Taylor passed to Doug Dood who picked up 14 yards on the 26 play. On the next play Dood swept right end from the 13 to be driven out of bounds by West Ottawa halfback Lynn Bakker on the three. On the next play DeRidder drove off tackle for the only score of the game.

Jerry Longscore's kick for the extra point was not good as the ball hit the crossbar and bounced back onto the playing field.

Although stalled in their running attack and held to a minus 15 yards rushing in the first half and picking up only five in the second half, the Panthers did collect 104 yards passing during the game with 61 accumulated in the first half.

Quarterback Dave Vizithum completed a 30-yard pass play to End Paul Busscher in the first period in what appeared to be the beginning of a Panther threat. However, the West Ottawa line didn't hold against the hard charging Bulldogs as they threw Vizithum for two sizable losses in a row forcing Dave Farabee to punt on 4th down.

The Panthers had a scoring opportunity in the second quarter when Farabee recovered a Bulldog fumble on the Grandville 20-yard line. But on third down Vizithum was shaken up when he was thrown to the ground by "red-dogging" Grandville linebackers for a loss of 11 yards. His replacement, Craig Van Dyke, promptly took over and on a fourth down play fired a 20-yard pass to halfback Dave Farabee who was pulled down on the seven. Once again the Panther attack bogged down as they ran out of downs on the five-yard line.

After Grandville was forced to punt deep within their own territory West Ottawa again had a scoring opportunity after end Arvin Visser picked a Vizithum pass out of the air for 16 yards giving the Panthers a first and ten on Grandville's 19-yard line. But once again the Panther threat fizzled as they fumbled on the 13-yard line and Grandville took over as the half ended. West Ottawa controlled the ball during the first half but couldn't get their running attack launched. They were bothered by costly fumbles, one deep in Grandville territory stopping a potential score. The Panthers in turn recovered a Bulldog fumble on the Grandville 20 but couldn't get their attack rolling to capitalize.

In the third quarter Vizithum intercepted a pass on the Grandville 35 only to have a fumble recovered by Jim Abbot of Grandville two plays later.

Fans were on their feet with excitement when with only 27 seconds left in the game Farabee took a pass from Vizithum and went 20 yards with only one Grandville player between him and a West Ottawa score before he was driven out of bounds. On the next play, however, Grandville intercepted and ran the clock out.

Coach Ron Wetherbee said that the Panthers missed big Bob Houting in the defensive tackle position. "Grandville fullback Paulson was running off tackle and making sizable gains from Houting's position," Wetherbee said. Houting was badly bruised in a practice session during the week.

Next week the West Ottawa Panthers play at home again as they host the East Grand Rapids Pioneers at 7:30 p.m.

Dutch Lose LMCA Game To Heights

A blocked kick, used last week as a victory weapon, served as the dagger of defeat Friday night as Holland High's football team lost to Muskegon Heights, 6-0 in the LMCA opener before 2,400 fans in Riverview Park.

It was against East Grand Rapids last Friday that the Dutch had used a blocked kick to set up a touchdown and also to provide the push to carry them to the win.

But against the Tigers the blocked kick, coming in the second quarter, sounded the death knell. The winners used it to set up a touchdown and to stimulate their defensive play.

Ernie Dooley, Tigers end, blocked Perry Cornelissen's kick on the three-yard line. On the next play Pete McLemore sneaked for the touchdown. The score came with 7:39 left in the second period. The Tigers were offside on the extra point.

But that ended the scoring as neither team could put together a scoring thrust. Holland tried but found the Tigers defense tougher than expected. Holland netted only 65 yards in the game, 39 rushing and 26 passing. The Dutch had the ball only about a quarter of the time and weren't ever able to sustain a drive.

The furthest penetration was made to the Tigers 21 early in the third quarter. But on fourth down, Muskegon Heights held and Holland's offense played the rest of the game in its own territory.

Holland's advancement to the 21 had been helped by a blocked punt. Jim Morse and Henry Ten Brink blocked McKinkley Copeland's punt on the Tigers 31.

An offside penalty, five of which came at key spots in the game and bothered the Dutch, put the ball on the 36, Muskegon Heights five-yard penalty and two running plays put the ball on the 21 where Holland was stopped.

The Dutch also had troubles with their passing game. They tried nine, completed three, and had three intercepted. Fumbles, ballcarrier lost the ball only to fall on it before the Dutch defense. An illegal procedure cost the winners a touchdown in the fourth quarter after McLemore had bootlegged 41 yards.

If there was a bright spot in Holland's performance it was the defensive squad. "They (defensive squad) played relatively well," Coach Jim Jebb said, considering they played three quarters of the game."

The Tigers were held to 174 yards rushing and completed only one pass for six yards. Rog Woltman was praised for his work on offense and defense along with the defensive work of Morse, Rob Zylman and John Dziedzic.

Another feature of the game was the punting. Perry Cornelissen booted six times for 197 yards and a 32.2 average including a 54-yard punt. Copeland punted eight times for 202 yards but included were a 55 and 46-yard kick.

Quarterback Mike Bos sprained his hand while Rick Coleman, Dziedzic and Brad Spahr had ankle injuries. It was Muskegon Heights' first LMCA win in two years. The Tigers are 2-0.

The Dutch play at Benton Harbor next Friday in an LMCA game. Holland is 1-1.

Wheaton Hands Hope 2nd Loss

WHEATON, Ill. — Besides dropping an 8-0 decision to Wheaton College here Saturday night in the mud at Grange Field, Hope College's football team lost three of its starting backfield for Saturday's conference opener at Kalamazoo.

It was a costly non-conference experience for the Flying Dutchmen who open defense of their MIAA title this week against Kalamazoo College at Angell Field.

Coach Russ De Vette said today starting fullback Tom De Kuiper and the two starting halfbacks, Bill Keur and Jim Bekkering will miss the game. Keur has a shoulder separation and will be out two weeks, De Vette said, while Bekkering has a concussion and will be in the Hope clinic this week. De Kuiper is out with a knee cartilage injury. Bekkering returned to Holland by ambulance today.

The three received the injuries against the Crusaders with Keur and De Kuiper in the first half and Bekkering in the second half.

Also injured and questionable for the league opener will be starting guard Ken Postma, who has a bruised cartilage in his knee and starting guard Paul Bast and starting defensive corner man Tom Pelon who both have arm injuries.

On the muddy, puddle-filled field, Wheaton found its bigger, stronger power backs had an easier time of navigating than the smaller Hope backs.

This was noted early when De Kuiper fumbled on his own 30 in the opening five minutes and the Crusaders drove the game's lone touchdown. Two first downs climaxed by 6'1", 200-pound fullback Bob Bennett's three-yard plunge gave Wheaton the score. The touchdown came with 9:47 to play. A pass for the two points failed.

The rest of the game followed a pattern of Hope moving a few yards and then fumbling. The Flying Dutchmen fumbled nine times and lost the ball six times and only had the ball 23 running plays. Most of the fumbles occurred on handoffs.

Hope recovered a Wheaton fumble on the Hope eight in the second quarter but a few plays later quarterback Harlan Hyink was tackled in the end zone for a safety.

The Flying Dutchmen had one scoring opportunity in the second half but freshman Keith Abel fumbled inside the Wheaton 30 and the Crusaders recovered.

Although Wheaton was able to move the ball in the second half on short yardage gains, the Flying Dutchmen contained them. Rog Kroodsmma stopped one drive with a pass interception.

Late in the game, Wheaton began moving and were forced into fourth down each time before making the first down. They did succeed in driving to the Hope three-yard line when the game ended. "We were tough in the second half," De Vette said. He commended Holland freshmen Pelon and Vern Plagenhoef for their play.

With the injured backs, De Vette was forced to use freshmen backs in the second half including West Ottawa freshman fullback Steve Piersma.

Wheaton had the ball 72 running plays and Bennett picked up 99 of Wheaton's 200 yards in 31 tries. The Crusaders had 101 yards in the first half. Hope rushed 19 yards and the two first downs were both aided by a five-yard penalty.

Hope enters MIAA play with an 0-2 mark. Kalamazoo, the only MIAA team to beat Hope in 1963, defeated Lake Forest, 14-6 Saturday.
